Supervisors Approve The Realignment of Voting Precincts

Date For Public Road Hearing Set

R. Murrell Ferguson, Secretary of the Electoral Board of Appomattox County, appeared before the Board of Supervisors at their regular meeting on Friday with a recommendation for the realignment of voting precincts in Appomattox County.

In past years the registered voters in the Town of Appomattox have been voting at the Court House precinct along with registered voters in that precinct and according to the State Board of Elections it is illegal for two separate precincts to vote within the same polling place.

On the recommendation of Ferguson, the Board of Supervisors of Appomattox County approved the realignment of precincts in Appomattox County.

In future elections all registered voters in the Town of Appomattox, now numbering 894, will vote at the Town Hall and other registered voters in the County who have previously voted at the Court House, now numbering 955, will continue to vote at this polling place.

The location of the polling place in Pamplin was changed from the Town Hall to the Pamplin Fire House.

Cheatwood precinct, with 150 registered voters, was disbanded and those voters will be moved to the Court House precinct which is in the same Magesterial District. Chappell precinct, with approximately 400 registered voters, will be closed and those voters will come to the Court House in Appomattox to vote also.

The Walkers Church precinct, with 159 registered voters, will be disbanded and those voters will go to the Fire House in Pamplin for their polling place.

By splitting the Town of Appomatox and the County House precincts and changing the polling places of three precincts of three others, Appomattox County now has eight precincts in the three

Safety And Welfare of Students Is Stressed

Appomattox County Schools Will Continue To Operate On Daylight Savings Time

After much consideration of the matter, members of the School Board of Appomattox County meeting in regular session on Friday afternoon voted to have all public schools in the county continue to operate on Daylight Savings Time.

The division superintendent, Lloyd Walton, stated, "We don't like the schedule. We are concerned about the early hour that some of our students have to meet buses. But it appears that a majority of parents prefer that the schools follow the same schedule as other businesses. It causes less disruption for the family."

Walton reported to the board that school personnel were taking every step possible to provide for the safety and welfare of students. Safety patrolmen received special instructions last week from the supervisor of transportation, H. A. Paulette.

The superintendent reported that bus drivers have been instructed to begin their bus routes as late in the mornings as possible and still allow time for arrival at school in Appomattox by 9:00 a.m. "We want to avoid as much as possible having students meet buses before daylight," Walton said.

The superintendent requests that parents caution their children to exercise extreme care while waiting on the road for buses. Students should remain off the side of the road and not move toward the school bus until it has come to a stop. Students who have to cross a road to board a school bus should be very observant of oncoming vehicles. Even though the school bus has stopped and the caution lights are blinking, do not step out into the road until oncoming vehicles have stopped.

Walton continued, "we need parental assistance to insure that the youth of the county are properly protected. Caution them frequently about safety measures. Provide proper supervision. Instruct the older students to assume an added responsibility to help protect the younger children from accidents."

Remember, "ACCIDENTS ARE CAUSED, THEY DON'T JUST HAPPEN."

Eugene Peyton, Director of Instruction, appeared before the board to make a report on the comparison of education in Appomattox County Schools opposed to education in other school systems based on test scores given at various grade levels. Members of the board were quite pleased with the report and feel that schools in this county rank high in comparison.

Members of the School Board voted to accept the Projected Five-Year Plan for Special Education as presented by Mrs. Jean Hesson, General Supervisor.

Board members also voted to give tentative approval of the Projected Five-Year Plan for Vocational Education as presented by R. R. Carter, Supervisor of Vocational Education. Carter reported that they are now in the process of getting student registrations for Vocational Education for the projected time period and final approval will be given when the registration of students has been completed. With the many new course offerings scheduled for the 1974-75 school year three or four additional Vo-Ed teachers may be needed in the Appomattox County School System.

Division Superintendent Lloyd Walton, informed board members that four days thus far have been lost from school due to snow and recommended that January 24th, 25th and March 15th, scheduled in the School Calendar as teacher workdays, be used as regular teaching school days.

Walton further recommended that in order to meet the necessary requirement established by the State Board of Education of 190 teacher workdays, that June 7th, 10th and 11th be set up as days for teacher workshops.

Board members voted to accept both the recommendations and with the revised schedule, the last day of school for students, as it now stands, will be June 6th.

The regular meeting of the School Board for the month of June is scheduled for the 14th of that month but in view of the fact that the board has a great deal of business to complete and pay bills before June 14th, board members voted to have the June meeting on Friday, June 7th, and to have a final meeting on Tuesday, June 25, 1974.

The members of the board also voted to change the meeting date for the February session from Friday, February 8, to Tuesday, February 12th, due to conflicting obligations of some of the board members.

Walton reported to the board that $11,284.25 of the Title I funds carried over from 1972-73 had been returned to the county school system and recommended that this money be used to employ two teachers for the primary school. One teacher will be in the third grade level and the other in the fourth grade level and will teach reading and math. Board members voted to support the superintendent's recommendation and will employ two new teachers.

Bull Sale At Red House Planned For Feb. 2nd

Fifty-four completely performance tested bulls will be sold at the Red House Bull Evaluation Center at Red House, Virginia at 12:30 p.m. on Saturday, February 2, 1974. This sale presents a real opportunity for purebred and commercial breeders in Virginia and particularly, the Southside to select fast gaining bulls that should increase growth rate and profit potential in their herds.

Actually there will be a few less than 54 bulls selling. Only those bulls which surpass rigid minimums on performance and conformation will sell. There are 30 Angus, 21 Polled Herefords, and 3 Charolais bulls in the test group. These bulls were consigned by 18 breeders from across Virginia who are members of the Virginia Beef Cattle Improvement Association. Each bull on test was selected from the top end of the herd from which he came based on weaning weight. So, these were a select group of bulls and those selling will be even more superior.

Full performance data will be available in the catalog on each bull including adjusted 205 day weaning weight, 140 day gain test ADG, adjusted 365 day yearling weight, type, frame, muscle, and soundness scores and fatness and skeletal size measures.

Bulls will be sold at the Center in the new heated sales barn. Bulls will be sold individually by "silent auction" method. Every bull will carry a predetermined minimum price based on performance and individuality. Buyers may place claiming bids on any bull prior to or during the sale. If more than one buyer claims a bull at the minimum price, bidding above this price will take place. The highest bidder will be the buyer. If only one person places a claiming bid, he is the owner. This is the same system used in last year's sales.

The bulls have been on a very practical corn silage base ration. They will not be overfat and will be of breeding age. Buying bulls this early offers a

"Christmas" Shopping Tour in January

The annual "Jaycee Christmas Shopping Tour", scheduled for December 20th but postponed due to weather conditions and the closing of schools in the county, was held Friday night, January 11th.

Fifty-five children were entertained with the showing of films, were treated to dinner at the Appomattox Primary School by Jaycees and their wives, taken on a shopping tour, and given a bag of fruit before being taken to their homes. Each child was given a sum of money to do their "Christmas" shopping for family and to get a gift for themselves.

Money used for this project was made by the Jaycees of Appomattox County at their annual Country Music Show and is just one more of the worthwhile projects sponsored by this fine organization.

Members of the Jaycees would like to extend a special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Vaughan, Miss Elizabeth Gilliam, and to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Foxwell and their sons, Neil and John, for helping with the shopping tour.
